

The St. Joseph Community Health Foundation announces $1,029,330 in local grants

$1,029,330 in grants were awarded in 2017 by the St. Joseph Community Health Foundation, a ministry sponsored by the Poor Handmaids of Jesus Christ, to local organizations to improve the health and wellness of the vulnerable and low-income populations of Allen County.

The Foundation has invested more than $19M through 1,280 grants into 216 Allen County agencies serving the local community since the sale of St. Joseph Medical Center twenty years ago. All grants are focused to:

Respond to community needs with grants;

Leverage collaboration with community partners;

Engage in transformational initiatives.

Grants are also awarded to strengthen the poor in mind, body and spirit, through the delivery of health and wellness services to the low-income and underserved. The funded agencies also reflect the shared values of both the Foundation and its Sponsor, especially showing dignity and respect for all peoples, focusing on the community of Allen County, Indiana.
